

Team up with a Google Certified Publishing Partner

Working with a Google Certified Publishing Partner can help bring your business to the next level. A Google Certified Publishing Partner is a company that we've reviewed and have proven to be experts using Google products and also provide publishers with innovative solutions and services.

Please keep in mind that each partner has their own set criteria and expectations for the publishers they will work with.

Google Certified Publishing Partners offer these expert solutions:

- Full-service ad operations, implementations, and testing
- Mobile, Web, App, UX and Responsive Design development
- Content moderation tools
- Platform and monetization solutions for Video
- Customization of Ads
- Full Services on mobile app monetization, user acquisition, and user re-engagement

Look for the Badge

The Certified Publishing Partner badge assures that you are working with a partner who has been carefully evaluated by Google. It is a guarantee that the partner is a trained expert on Google AdSense, Ad Manager, or AdMob.

All partners are required to maintain their certifications by passing product exams every year.

"Not only is the income great, the support and ideas to better my website is fantastic. Their team really cares about my business and wants to help me be more successful."
